THIS LAND IS ME

CONTEMPORARY AUSTRALIAN ABORIGINAL ART

JULY 27 - SEPTEMBER 23, 2023

Kurun Warun, Pakup Yallandar (Fire Stick) Sunset Trio, 2023, acrylic on linen, 48 x 24 inches each

ArtX Contemporary is thrilled to introduce our newest collection of Australian Aboriginal Art, featuring contemporary paintings from the world's oldest continuous culture. THIS LAND IS ME explores the close relationship between nature and the Indigenous inhabitants of this ancient landscape. From the immense red sand interior of the Central Desert to the fierce monsoon rains of the Northern Territory, Indigenous Australians express themselves as extensions of their land. The act of painting creates a visual archive of ceremonial knowledge and serves as a mnemonic for handing down historical tradition that honors their interconnected relationship with time, with ancestors and with Country, crossing thresholds into different realms from past to present and into the future.

Please contact the gallery if you would like a preview before the Seattle Art Fair on July 27-30.

"I live and work on Orcas Island in the Salish Sea, in forests filled with cedar, fir and alder, surrounded by water as far as I can see. Every day, I photograph, journal, and record my environment. During my experiences in nature, the trees whisper their wisdom to my soul. My artistic practice is rooted in the stories they tell and their teachings. Through them, I have learned the extent to which we are intertwined. Nature not only surrounds us, she lives within us. With every breath, we inhale nature; with every exhale, we become more connected to her."
- Joyce Gehl, 2023
